1. How many types of buildings are being studied?

Staff Response: The Consultants performed a comprehensive survey of the City's existing building stock. Every building within the City was identified and catalogued.

2. Is the consultant that is undertaking the survey also going to estimate the costs associated with retrofitting the buildings? If not, is the City going to hire another consultant to provide that information?

Staff Response: The Consultants undertaking the survey can provide general estimates based on data collected from other similar cities.
